ADVERTISEMENT.

THE books, comprised in the following Catalogue, are arranged alphabetically under the names of their respective authors; except versions and editions of the whole or part of the Sacred Scriptures, which are placed together under the word "Biblia." Editions of the classics and other ancient works may be found after the name by which the original writer is usually known; that of the editor, and generally the place and time of publication, being added by way of distinction. In such dates as are inserted with a hyphen, thus 1821-3, it is intended to specify the years in which both the first and last volumes of the work were printed; and it will be observed that wherever a blank line is used, the words above it are to be repeated. All duplicate copies are enumerated, as well as the several volumes of such works as are imperfect, which, it is right to mention, were originally deposited in the Library in the state described; books, which have an asterisk placed before their titles, have been presented by their authors or editors; and those marked thus †, by their publishers.

The perusal of books is permitted to Members of the College, under the superintendence of the Librarian, only during the time of their residence ; and any Member, wishing to procure the loan of a book for that purpose, is required to send a written application, specifying the title of the work as described in the Catalogue, the date of borrowing, and the name of the applicant ; the paper, containing the application, to be filed by the Librarian, and kept as a receipt, until the book is returned.

In the event of a book being lost, damaged, or written upon either with ink or pencil ; the person, who had it in his possession, is expected to forfeit the value of the work, or substitute another copy in its stead.

LIBRARIAN,

REV. RICE REES, M. A.—to whom all consignments of books, intended for the Library, may be addressed, at “St. David’s College, Lampeter.”
